DEPUTY COMMUNICATIONS DIRECTOR – The Committee on House Administration (CHA) is seeking an experienced communications professional to join a fast-paced, high-impact Communications team supporting the Ranking Member and helping lead the office's press and communications operations.

The Committee plays a central role in safeguarding the integrity of federal elections, overseeing campaign finance and disclosure systems, and ensuring the effective, transparent operation of the U.S. House of Representatives. This role offers the opportunity to help shape and execute communications strategy on issues including election integrity, anti-corruption efforts, and the functioning of American democracy.

Office of Talent and Development
CAO | U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Deputy Communications Director will play a key role in developing messaging, elevating Committee priorities, and driving media engagement across national, regional, and emerging platforms.

Responsibilities include:

- Drafting and advising on press releases, op-eds, talking points, one-pagers, newsletters, and social media content.
- Helping develop and execute proactive communications strategies around Committee oversight, legislative priorities, and emerging issues related to elections and institutional accountability.
- Pitching and securing coverage across broadcast, print, and digital media.
- Coordinating closely with Democratic Member offices and external stakeholders to align messaging and amplify Committee work.
- Managing press events and conferences and staffing the Ranking Member for interviews and media appearances.
- Contributing to digital content production, including podcasts and direct-to-camera communications.

This is not an entry-level position, and previous communications experience is required. The successful candidate must possess strong writing and editing skills, the ability to translate complex policy into clear, compelling messaging, and have the ability to manage multiple priorities simultaneously.

This is a critical role in a dynamic communications environment, requiring responsiveness to breaking news, the ability to meet tight deadlines, and availability to work nights, evenings, and weekends as needed. At the same time, it offers significant opportunities for ownership, visibility, and professional growth, including direct involvement in shaping messaging on high-profile democracy and governance issues, advising senior leadership, and engaging with top-tier media.

The Committee is committed to, and benefits from, a diverse staff, and candidates of all backgrounds are encouraged to apply. Interested applicants should send a resume to resume.chadem@mail.house.gov and include “Deputy Communications Director” in the subject line.

U.S. House of Representatives

Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, Democratic Staff

Senior Counsel

The Democratic Staff of the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform is seeking a seasoned Senior Counsel to help lead high-profile, complex legal investigations.

Office of Talent and Development
CAO | U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The ideal candidate is highly proactive and has the skills to take full ownership of investigations from inception through public presentation—someone who identifies leads, anticipates issues, and drives investigative strategy forward without waiting for direction. This role requires sound independent and political judgment, decisiveness under pressure, and the ability to move matters forward in fast-moving, high-stakes environments.

Position Overview

1. Lead Investigations: Serve as lead counsel to own and drive complex investigations end-to-end—proactively identifying lines of inquiry, setting investigative strategy, developing workplans, and advancing matters with urgency and minimal oversight.
2. Interviews & Depositions: Conduct transcribed interviews and depositions; develop outlines and exhibits; protect the record; and manage privilege, confidentiality, and classification issues.
3. Written Work Product: Draft detailed memoranda, letters, reports, document requests, and public-facing materials that translate complex facts into clear findings.
4. Document Production: Oversee document collection and review protocols; coordinate with staff on review and productions.
5. Hearings & Briefings: Drive preparation for hearings and briefings for Members of Congress; develop fact memos, exhibits, member questioning, and rapid response.
6. Proactive Case Development: Independently identify emerging issues, pursue new leads, and anticipate evidentiary, legal, and political risks—ensuring investigations progress efficiently without the need for continuous direction.
7. Strategic Counsel: Advise Democratic Members and senior staff on posture, precedent, and investigative strategy within the Committee’s jurisdiction.

This is not an entry level position. Qualified candidates will have at least 10 + Years of legal experience, including substantial, hands-on investigative leadership—e.g., complex litigation, public corruption, white-collar, major civil or criminal enforcement, or comparable internal investigations. A proven record conducting and leading interviews/depositions and managing sensitive fact patterns under intense public scrutiny.

This person should bring strong collaborative leadership skills (the ability to coordinate across Member offices, agencies, and stakeholders while keeping a fast operational tempo). In addition to exceptional writing and research skills with the ability to distill dense records into precise, persuasive work products on tight deadlines and have sound political and legal judgment, with the discretion to handle confidential and sensitive information.

Preferred but not required:

1. Capitol Hill, Executive Branch, or prior oversight experience.

2. Trial or litigation practice; complex e-discovery; privilege and classification issues; drafting subpoenas and managing compliance.
3. Security clearance at the TS or TS-SCI level.

Compensation & Workplace

This Position is based in Washington, D.C. The salary range is $120,000–$145,000. The final salary will highly commensurate with educational and professional experience. We value a mission-driven, supportive, and high-performance team culture—and we work hard for it.

Our Commitment to Inclusion

The Oversight Committee is committed to, and benefits from, a diverse staff. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply. Applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, religion, sex (including marital or parental status), sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, age, or national origin.

Interested applicants are encouraged to submit a resume, and cover letter as ONE PDF titled “LastName.FirstName” to oversightjobs@mail.house.gov with “Senior Counsel” in the subject line by April 10, 2026, at midnight. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. No calls or walk-ins please.
