Policy Director - MEM-278-26

Policy Director, Congressional Black Caucus (CBC)
The Congressional Black Caucus (CBC) seeks an experienced Policy Director to serve as the senior policy and legislative adviser to the Caucus. Reporting to the Executive Director, the Policy Director will lead the development, coordination, and execution of the CBC's legislative and policy agenda and advise Caucus leadership and Members on significant legislative, policy, and strategic matters before Congress.

The Policy Director will work closely with CBC leadership and Member offices to translate the priorities of the Caucus into coordinated legislative and policy strategies. The position requires a strong command of House and Senate legislative processes, congressional committees and floor activity, and the relationships among Member offices, committee staff, congressional leadership, federal agencies, and external stakeholders.

The successful candidate will bring significant congressional or legislative experience, sound political and policy judgment, and the ability to operate effectively in a complex, fast-moving legislative environment. The Policy Director must be able to assess developments across Congress, anticipate issues requiring Caucus attention, provide clear recommendations to senior leaders, and work effectively with experienced congressional staff to advance CBC priorities.

Responsibilities

- Serve as the senior policy and legislative adviser to the CBC Chair, Caucus leadership, membership and Executive Director on legislative and policy matters.
- Lead the development and execution of the CBC's legislative and policy agenda, working with Caucus leadership and Members to establish priorities, identify opportunities for action, and develop strategies for advancing those priorities.
- Provide strategic recommendations to CBC leadership regarding legislation, amendments, floor activity, congressional negotiations, appropriations, administrative actions, and other significant policy developments affecting Caucus priorities.
- Monitor legislative activity in the House and Senate and ensure CBC leadership and Members are informed of significant developments, emerging issues, deadlines, and opportunities requiring Caucus engagement.
- Develop and coordinate Caucus positions on major legislation and policy matters, including preparing recommendations, decision memoranda, legislative analyses, briefing materials, talking points, letters, statements, and other materials for CBC leadership and Members.

- Coordinate with CBC Member offices to develop and advance Member-led legislative initiatives, including legislation, amendments, resolutions, sign-on letters, appropriations priorities, and other congressional actions aligned with Caucus priorities.
- Track priority legislation sponsored or supported by CBC Members and develop strategies for building congressional support, navigating the committee process, and positioning priorities for consideration by the House and Senate.
- Closely monitor relevant committee, leadership, and floor activity and coordinate with Member offices, committee staff, congressional leadership staff, and other caucuses on matters affecting CBC priorities.
- Maintain strong working relationships with Legislative Directors, committee professional staff, committee counsels, leadership staff, and other senior congressional staff necessary to advance the Caucus's legislative agenda.
- Lead policy preparation for CBC business meetings, leadership meetings, Member briefings, policy convenings, and other substantive meetings, ensuring Members have clear recommendations, background materials, legislative intelligence, and proposed courses of action.
- Develop and maintain systems for tracking the Caucus's legislative priorities, Member initiatives, congressional activity, Administration actions, and outstanding policy commitments.
- Serve as a principal policy liaison between the CBC and House and Senate leadership, congressional committees, other congressional caucuses, federal departments and agencies, and relevant congressional support entities.
- Build and maintain substantive relationships with civil rights organizations, advocacy organizations, labor, business, think tanks, academics, policy experts, and other stakeholders whose expertise or engagement can help advance Caucus priorities.
- Coordinate engagement with federal departments and agencies regarding matters of importance to the Caucus, including preparing CBC leadership and Members for meetings with Cabinet officials and other senior Administration officials and managing appropriate follow-up.
- Identify emerging legislative, regulatory, judicial, and public-policy developments affecting Black communities and recommend whether and how the Caucus should engage.
- Lead the policy component of rapid-response efforts when significant legislative, judicial, regulatory, or national developments require timely CBC consideration or action.
- Work closely with the Communications Director to ensure that the Caucus's public messaging accurately reflects its legislative positions, policy objectives, accomplishments, and strategic priorities.
- Coordinate the work of CBC policy councils, working groups, task forces, and other Member-led policy structures, as assigned.

- Represent the CBC in senior-level meetings with congressional staff, federal officials, policy organizations, advocacy groups, and other external stakeholders.
- Perform other policy and legislative responsibilities as assigned by the Executive Director or CBC leadership.

Experience and Qualifications

This is a senior-level position requiring significant congressional or directly relevant legislative experience and a demonstrated command of the legislative process. Successful candidates should possess:

- Significant experience working in Congress or in a role requiring sustained engagement with Congress, with demonstrated experience developing legislative strategies, analyzing legislation, and providing policy recommendations to senior decision-makers.
- Deep practical knowledge of House and Senate legislative processes, including committees and subcommittees, hearings and markups, floor procedure, amendments, legislative negotiations, appropriations, and congressional leadership structures.
- Demonstrated experience working with congressional committee staff and a strong understanding of the respective roles of Member offices, committee staff, and leadership staff in developing, negotiating, and advancing legislation.
- Experience assessing legislative developments and advising senior officials on the political, procedural, and policy considerations surrounding potential courses of action.
- Demonstrated ability to analyze complex legislation and policy matters quickly and translate that analysis into clear recommendations and actionable legislative strategies.
- Experience preparing senior-level briefing materials, legislative analyses, decision memoranda, talking points, congressional correspondence, and other substantive policy work products.
- Demonstrated ability to work effectively with Legislative Directors, committee staff, leadership staff, and other senior congressional professionals.
- Strong political and legislative judgment, including the ability to recognize opportunities, identify potential obstacles, anticipate congressional developments, and recommend appropriate strategies.
- Demonstrated ability to build coalitions and develop productive working relationships across congressional offices, committees, government agencies, advocacy organizations, and other institutions.
- Exceptional written and oral communication skills, discretion, attention to detail, and sound professional judgment.
- Ability to operate effectively in a fast-paced congressional environment where priorities shift quickly and significant matters may require immediate analysis and recommendations.

- Demonstrated understanding of policy issues affecting Black communities and familiarity with the legislative and policy priorities historically advanced by the Congressional Black Caucus.

This is not an entry-level position and candidates should have a demonstrated understanding of House and Senate legislative processes. To apply, please send a cover letter, resume, and writing sample to vincent.evans@mail.house.gov. No walk-ins or calls please.
